New York, March 25.

The Herald's Panama correspondence says:

A British frigate appeared off Cartagena on the 20th of February, and the captain addressed a note to the President, stating that the British Council should receive the mails before they were sent to the local post office and that the President should apologize for past offenses in respect to the matter.

The President sent a declaration of war to the service of Mosquera, came into the port in the meanwhile and was seized by the Englishman.

The demands were refused, with threats of taking other measures in the event of non-compliance, and the President, fearing bombardment, succumbed and apologized, promising to do better in the future.

The ex-rebel General Longstreet has expressed his opinions on the reconstruction plan in the columns of the New Orleans Times. He says there is no humiliation attached to an acceptance of the terms proposed by Congress and he has no reason to doubt its acceptance.

Varities.

A mass temperance convention is to be held in Buffalo this evening.

Oil of 45 cents, sold on Pioneer Run, yesterday, at $1.80 on the well.

Twelve inches of snow fell in Western New York on Thursday and Friday last. The telegraph lines were prostrated and railroad telegraph impeded.

The Currier House, at Warren, (the best in the place) has been closed. The proprietor's application for a liquor license was refused, and he realized by shutting up shop.

The Franklin Speedway says that the project of removing the county seat of Venango to Oil City has completely failed. We believe it has not yet been subjected to the legislative test.

A fire company has been organized at Titusville, and is offered as follows: Foreman, E. T. Goodrich; 1st Asst. Secy, A. C. Baum; 2d do, G. L. Binney; Secretary, S. H. Evans. There are thirty-four men to man the brakes.

The records of the Post Office Department show that in the Dead Letter Bureau there have been 600,000 dead letters destroyed in the last year, in which were enclosed $200,000 in drafts, which were returned to the owners thereof.

Friday morning last, says the Toronto Globe, about three hundred passengers arrived by the Grand Trunk railway from the Madoc gold region, where they had vainly sought gold or employment. They all had returned tickets for the West.

At a meeting of the citizens of Marvin town, Erie county, on Saturday, the name of the town was changed to Seneca. The cause for this change was that Mr. Elihu Marvin had sold some of the lands and streets that he had previously donated.

The railroad accident which occurred at Woodstock, C. W., on Friday was more serious than reported by telegraph. William Rogers, baggage master of the express train, was burned to death, and the conductor instantly killed. Sixty thousand dollars worth of freight was consumed, and $150,000 in bank notes and valuables destroyed in the express car.

The Buffalo Courier says there is living in that city a lady named Mary Ann Feltow, who claims that she will be 102 years of age in July next. She is a French Canadian by birth, and came to the State of New York when she was 17. She has borne 12 children, five of whom are living. She enjoys good health, and a mind unimpaired, though quite poor, and dependent on her children for support.

Expeditions Against the Indians.

Lieut. Gen. Sherman has addressed a letter to the headquarters of the army, dated St. Louis, March 13, 1867, wherein he says all the troops in the departments of Dakota, Platte and Missouri, embracing the Indian country, have been and are being placed in position to afford the best protection to the telegraph and mail routes across the plains, as well as to protect the four principal roads by which the emigrants travel, or march, and their goods destined to the mountain territories. These troops will occupy posts readily built, but designed for defence by a portion of the garrison, whilst the remainder can operate as escorts or expeditions between the posts.

Commanding officers of these posts or stations are to be against all people who violate the laws of Congress, or who endanger the lives or property of our people, be they white, black, or copper colored. When there are no courts or civil authorities to hold and punish such malefactors, we must, by force, if necessary, use the most prompt and efficient means to suppress such lawless and peaceful people. Peaceful people—whites, blacks, or Indians—will be left to be dealt with by the civil authorities and agents.

Gen. Hancock, in the Department of the Missouri, has organized a special force of about 1,500 men, with which he will proceed in person to the country of the Cheyennes and Kiowas, below the Arkansas, and will there confer with them to ascertain if they want to fight, in which case he will indulge them. If, however, they will assure him that they will remain at peace, subject to their treaties and agents, he will not disturb them, but impress on them the importance of assuming an insolent manner and tone when they visit our posts, and he will impress on them that it is to their interest to keep their hunting parties and their young warriors off our main lines of travel, when their presence gives the occasion for the many rumors which so disturb our people. After he has done this he will distribute this force so as to be again easily assembled, if the occasion calls for it.

In like manner, General Augur, of the Department of the Platte, has prepared a force of about two thousand men, to be sent under a competent commander, General Gibbon, to the region of country of country on the head of Powder and Yellowstone rivers, to punish the bands of hostile Sioux who have invested that food for the past year, have killed many people, and are at open war. No mercy should be shown these Indians, for they grant no quarter nor ask for it. General Augur was instructed, if possible, by means of runners, to notify all Sioux who wished to avoid the fate of their hostile fellows to come from some one of our military posts on the Platte, where we would feed them temporarily and turn them over to the care of their proper agents.

But inasmuch as Congress has lately provided for a commission to visit these Indians, and as these commissioners have reached Omaha, the headquarters of General Augur, General Sherman has instructed him to delay actual hostilities until these commissioners have "hounded their efforts and reported to him their inability to influence the conduct of the hostile Sioux by pacific measures.

In reference to these two exceptions, General Sherman says defensive measures will not be taken against Indians. "We are tied down to long routes, and our detachments are necessarily small, hardly enough to build shelters and gather fire-wood, the materials for which have to be hauled two and three hundred miles, whilst the Indians were hundreds and thousands of miles away, taking along with them their ponies, lodges, wives and children. They are thus enabled at one time to attack or molest on roads at one point, and in a month or so make their appearance at another hundreds of miles distant. Our troops must get amongst them and kill enough of them to inspire fear, and then must conduct the remainder to places where Indian agents can and will reside amongst them, and be held responsible for their conduct."

Dr. A. H. O'Connell and Austin, will visit Titusville, April 1st, and remain until the 1st of May. A pamphlet, entitled "The Infirmary and Dead Man's Guide to Mortification," sent free to any address. His work, entitled "The Pathway to Health and Happiness," sent by mail on receipt of 5¢.

Republican Convention in Virginia.

The Republican State Central Committee of Virginia are about to call a mass convention of the United Republican party of the State, without distinction of color, at Richmond, on the 17th of April, 1867. The State Committee is composed of the following gentlemen: Lewis McKenney, Lysander Hill, John Hawthorn, Brenham Ward, Willard E. Smith, and James H. Clements. The proceedings of the convention will be of much interest, and the attendance will undoubtedly be large.

The following singular coincidence is recorded in connection with the above call, and what renders it more significant is the fact the discovery was not made until the day was fixed for the forthcoming Republican convention:

On the 17th of April, 1861—six years ago—the convention of Virginia passed the ordinance of secession to protect the divine institution. On the 17th of April, 1867, a convention of laymen of Virginia is called to meet at the capital of the defunct Confederacy, without distinction of color, to organize with a view of taking part in the election of the new convention shortly to be called by General Schofield.

A New Southern Staple.

A new plant has been added to the resources of the tropical and semi-tropical regions—a new textile, which will furnish the world with clothing and means of knowledge. This valuable plant consists of long skeins of a cotton-like fibre—cotton-like in whiteness, softness and fineness, but much stronger—which is now produced at the rate of five crops per year, in the State of Vera Cruz, Mexico, where it has been cultivated for five years by a Belgian naturalist and botanist, who went there to pursue his favorite studies and occupations in a soil and climate which favor them.

This plant, called the ramie, is a native of Java; was introduced thence into the Jardin des Plantes, at Paris, by some French savan, in 1840; was regarded then as simply exhibiting the wonderful advantages of the tropics, being too delicate for open air culture in cold climates. But having been planted and tried in warmer climates than that of France, yet not so equatorial as that of Java, it has been found to do as well in them.

The ramie (its Japanese name) is a plant like hemp, containing in its stock the fibre for which it is valued, and which it grows like the sugar-cane, from the cutting of the stock, or stalk, which, after being cut, the stalk of the cane, that cut, succeeding year it grows better, and that in China and Lower Mexico it will furnish fibre, and here at least three, cuttings in the year.

By a new process and simple machinery the flut can be prepared from the stalk taken fresh from the ground, in twenty-four hours, whereas months of labor and the entire discoloring of the fibre follows the treatment of the ordinary process of flax and hemp, while the ramie comes out white, clean, pure and unharmed.

Eight hundred pounds of flut to the acre is to be expected from each cutting of flut grown in fair land. The culture is similar to that of cane; but as the plant, when once set, is hard to eradicate, grows vigorously, and defies the influence of grass or rival plants, cultivation is only needed to promote growth. The fibre is long, fine and strong; the plant easy to raise and hardy in a southern latitude; its preparation for market is simple and cheap in cost. Under these circumstances, it is expected by southern journals that it will at an early day take high rank among the staple productions of the Gulf States.

"Keno."

"Keno" is the title of an old method of gambling which has been recently revived in New York, and like all other fashionable vices originating in that city, has extended over the whole country. The manner in which it is played is as follows: A pack of cards with three rows of figures, and five figures in each row on each card, and a small revolving barrel under the style of "Keno." Each card is numbered, and the numbers of those cards are kept by the banker, who checks them off by duplicates. In the wheel-like box there are placed ninety small ivory balls. A portion of each is cut off, and on the face surface that made a number is printed between one and ninety. Presuming that the cards are sold, one hundred of them, there is now $50 in the pool. As the wheel is revolved, each person fixes his eyes steadily on his card. The plunger draws a ball from the wheel, and he who has a card with a corresponding number puts a small piece of glass over the number, to denote that he has it. In this manner the game continues until one of the parties has the three lines of figures complete, when he cries out "Keno," and takes the pool. The great secret is to have a complete row of figures. If this description of the game is in any particular incorrect, we presume there are forty or fifty persons in Titusville who can point out the mistakes.

The popularity of this "lethal game" has caused its introduction almost everywhere. At Oil City, Petroleum Centre, Pioneer and Franklin, as well as in Titusville, "Keno boxes" are a nightly attraction, and have become a source of very general complaint. We have been frequently asked why we do not expose the parties who are thus violating the law, subverting morality and fleecing the community. Our reply is that the people have elected magistrates and other officials whose duty it is to enforce the laws without being exhorted by either the press or the people.

These Keno establishments are more generally dangerous and harmful from the fact that the game is easily learned, and may be played for small sums, as is not the case in faro institutions. Boys and young men, with little money and less brains, are allured by the excitement of chance to spend the night, and their hard earnings, or the proceeds of parental liberality, around these boards, soon to lose not only their money, but their characters, and their inclination for any form of honest labor, and so in a short time to be converted into shavers and loafers, seeking for victims more weak and inexperienced than themselves.

It is a reproach to any community that allows such "diger den" openly to exist, and it will not be creditable to the Mayor and Common Council of Titusville, if with the authority of the law to support them, they do not immediately put a stop to the gambling business in this city. It is not improbable that there will be some "tail wearing" at the time and object of this article. And we advise the Kenotes, to "wear away." They can't begin to do justice to the subject's "nor can we."

Recovery.—Charlie Cunningham of Rochester, N. Y., the unfortunate little boy who was so severely burnt near Pithole, Pa., some months since, is now in a fair way of recovery. His physician, Dr. Pond, thinks he will be able to leave his bed in a few days, but has stated that the child's right elbow will probably be permanently stiff. The Democrat says the case has been a severe one for the doctor as well as for his patient. Two hours were frequently occupied in dressing the burns, which were sometimes very offensive. So great was the pain that it was generally necessary to put Charlie under the influence of ether. The physicians who have assisted Dr. Pond from time to time think the recovery a remarkable one.
